

Clarks brings full brand offer to Marble Arch

New London location will offer the full Clarks range in the brand's contemporary Clarks Canvas retail concept

11 September 2026: Clarks, the iconic British footwear brand, has opened a new store at Marble Arch, strengthening its presence on London's Oxford Street and underlining its continued investment in the UK retail market.

Located at 522 Oxford Street, the new store will stock the full Clarks range, including mens, womens and kids footwear, Clarks Originals, Cloudsteppers and accessories.

The Marble Arch store is based on the contemporary Clarks Canvas concept introduced at the brand's Tottenham Court Road location last year. Designed to present the breadth of the Clarks brand within a fresh, modern setting, the concept features dedicated shopping areas that make it easier for customers to explore its different collections.

This latest opening reinforces Clarks' commitment to physical retail in the UK, while supporting the brand's wider growth across the UK and Europe in all channels. Marble Arch offers a prominent position at the western end of Oxford Street, enabling Clarks to reach London customers as well as visitors to one of the capital's best-known shopping destinations.

Joe Ulloa, President UK and Europe at Clarks, said:

"London remains a very important market for Clarks, and the opening of our new Marble Arch store is another positive step in strengthening our presence across the capital."

“The store brings together the full breadth of the Clarks offer in a modern and welcoming environment; from the styles and icons we are known for to our latest comfort and lifestyle collections.”

The new store will offer footwear for the whole family alongside Clarks Originals, including the brand’s globally recognised icons, and Cloudsteppers, its lightweight comfort range. Customers will also be able to shop a selection of accessories as Clarks continues to broaden the choice available across its stores.

About Clarks

Clarks, based in Somerset, England, has been at the forefront of innovative shoemaking since its foundation in 1825, when brothers James and Cyrus Clark made a slipper from sheepskin offcuts. This combination of invention and craftsmanship has remained at the heart of the brand throughout its history.

The Clarks archive contains more than 22,000 pairs of shoes, including designs that have defined generations. From the Clarks Desert Boot, designed by Nathan Clark and launched in 1950, to the iconic Wallabee, each has an instantly recognisable signature that makes it unmistakably Clarks.

Clarks is a global business operating across retail, wholesale, franchise and online channels in more than 100 markets.
